ONLY THREE STARTERS IN FOUR OUT OF SIX

CURLESQUES OF RACES. Four of the six so-called races decided at Monmouth yesterday had only three starters in each As a well-known owner put it, it was "cinch racing, where everybody got a share of the purse." two remaining affairs were of more substantial proportions, the field for one of them numbering and the other ten. The attendance was very The wail of the bookmakers on account of scanty betting was long and lond. Some improve ment must be shown soon or there will not be score of the bookles in line. Three-horse races will not enable them to do business on a paying basis

The opening contest was won by Banquet. was the favorite, yet 7 to 10 could always be had against him. He won in a desperate drive, Taral riding him hard for the last quarter. The finish was a question of gameness, and the old horse stood

The second race introduced to the East the color of Simeon G. Reed, a Western millionaire. Lucky Dog (a full brother of Kildeer), under Fara!'s pilotage, bore them to victory. At his neck was Matt Byrnes, the imported colt by Hampton out of Cherry who as a yearling cost Marcus Duly $20,000. He looks of the sturdy kind that will improve with racing. He ran a triffe green, yet at the end was closing fast. He will be a contender for Junior Championship honors on Tuesday next.

Correction looks better than she has looked for a long time. She was the favorite for the fourth race and won easily, making all the running under a pull The time, 0:59 3-4, was very fast considering th condition of the truck.

Patrician had a big advantage in the weights for the fifth race, and this gave him the race. The "good thing" from Brighton, Sir Kright, was heavily played, but finished last.

The last race was thought to lie between Hamm and Integrity, and both were plunged on. Treasure, the only other starter, was a 10 to 1 chance, yet he took first money. His victory brought solace to the rice, as few thought he had a possibility of success.

The fact that Tural rode Banquet, Stonenell and Fairy started a rumor that Lambles had left the employ of M. P. Dwyer. Mr. Dwyer denied the report, and Lambley rode Hammle.

Some men are so obtuse that they cannot under-stand a joke. W. Livingston Hamer-ley was merrily jesting with some friends at Menmouth a day or two ago, when some one asked him in a bantering way if he intended to run his colt War Lord to win on Saturday. Mr. Hamersley, in a jocose manner, replied that he would pull War Lord if the betting was not satisfactory. This was mere chaft, of course, without the slightest seriousness in it. And yet some person, incapable of comprehending a jest, has put in cold print the statement that Mr. Hamersley in-tends to pull War Lord on Saturday if the betting Mr. Hamersley always runs his horses to win, and his remark was simply humorous raillery. For any one to take it seriously was preterous absurdity.

A TRAINER'S NOTES ON THE TURF The racing at Monmouth Park yesterday was a repeti-York to see small fields contest for the purses. It is likely that the Executive Committee will adopt the free adopted, as owners will not enter their horses. C trainer said vesterday: "I have a fair stable of horses, a trainer said vesterday: "I have a fair stable of horses, and race them every chance I get, but I am not going to enter my horses when I can pick up the programme and see race after race with conditions that give horses in certain stables from five to ten pounds the best of it." When told that he exaggerated the state of affairs, he became angry, and said: "What I tell you is true. There were four races made for one of the fastest naises on the turf, but she did not win any of them, as horses that were everlooked were entered. So her manager entered her in a selling race at one-quarter of her value, and she won this race easily."

He is wide in the throttle, with a muzzle that would fit in the proverbial pint-cup. The colt's neck is the only feature about him that furnishes a subject for the experts to criticise. It appears short to many critics, but others say that it is set on his body too high, while still others say it is not deep energh. It may surprise some of them to learn that the feature they condemn is just what the English turfmen desire in a colt, as they prefer the N. Straus's ch. c. Integrity, 3. 98. (Femile)

SENATOR TELLER'S VIEWS.

CONGRESS CAN DO NOTHING, HE SAYS.

PEOPLE DO NOT LACK CONFIDENCE IN THE CUR-RENCY-IT IS ONLY INVESTMENTS THEY ARE AFRAID OF. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Washington, Aug. 2 - Senator Teller, of Colorado has been spending most of his time during the last six weeks in more or less apologetic explanation of free coinage of silver, and have incidentally plunged the country into commercial and financial embarrass ments. Not all of Mr. Teller's explanations can be said to explain, but the industry and fertility of the Colorado Senator have extorted admiration. It was each called for a Santa Cruz ponch. While the har-tender was mixing the drinks the two veterans looked at would issue a fresh bulletin of information and prediction on his arrival at the Capital, and the general expectation was not disappointed when Mr. Teller ached this city to-day. Senator Teller in Washington does not talk so lendly and excitedly about the "gold bug conspiracy against silver" as some Colorado statesmen have been doing in the West, nor does he any longer confidently assert, as he did three weeks ago in Chicago, that the Sherman law cannot and shall not be repealed. The recent financial disturbnnces in Denver have no doubt had much to do with cooling down the vehemence of the Rocky Mountain partisans of free silver, and it may be that this changed temper is reflected to some extent in the statled moderation of Senator Teller's latest statement of his views.

"I do not think," he said to a local interviewer this afternoon, "that there is anything that Congress can do to relieve the financial situation of the country. Certainly the repeal of the Sherman law will not The trouble does not arise from any lack of confidence in our currency. What the people are doing is hoarding money. They are putting it away in safe deposits and stockings and everywhere else where they can keep it safely. This shows truly enough that they are not afraid of the money, but they are afraid of investments. If they had any doubt about the stability and value of the currency they would seek investments in land or property of any kind which would have a Stable value. the contrary, they decline all investments and are or silver certificates in payment for their checks "The fact is that a scare has been worked up, and the people are frightened about business investments keewing just why. It originated way back with the fallure of the Barings. There was at that time, consequent upon that and other failures, a demand for hard money abroad, and, of course, ring land called on France for many millions of gold to meet her obligations, and American securities sold to raise money, not because of any lack of confidence in them, but because they were readily marketable and they needed the money, and these securities were taken here as they should have been, and had to be paid for in gold. Then there was interest to be paid holders of bonds in gold, and the balance of trade turned against us and had to be paid in gold. This was all natural enough and fur-nished no occasion for any lack of confidence here, in the exportation of gold, which was caused by the business situation abroad. They knew perfectly well that this gold would come back in time. They were anxious, however, to secure the repeal of the sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright sherman law, and even still more desirous to bright that the great "economist" sent authority to Representative Robertson, of Louislana, to act for him in the matter. gold in the Treasury to-day, exclusive of that held as basis for gold certificates, amounts to $100,791,370. This gold has come into the United States from Europe, Mexico and the West Indies, much of it being the gold sent out from the United States during the inte spring and early summer months. Information received here in Treasury circles indicates that $10,000,000 in gold is now on its way from Europe to the United States and most of this, it is expected, will find its way as usual into the Treasury.

While the gold reserve, however, is intact, and free gold is climbing up, the Trensury met balance is de clining, the stated amount to day being $17,251,000. of this balance about $12,000,000 is in National bank depositories, and the balance in subsidiary silver. The receipts, too, for the last few days have been disappointing, the business troubles throughout the country having an effect upon Government revenues. These troubles are receiving the closest possible at tention of Treasury officials, and everything that can be done is being done to relieve the situation. Secretary Carlisle, though absent from the city, is in communication with the Treasury Department by wire, and to-day directed Acting Secretary Curtis to send the following telegram to the 150 National bank depositories throughout the United States:

"Your authorized balance hereby fixed at par of security. Transfer excess whenever practicable to nearest Sul-Treasury."

This action of the Treasury Department will referse to the banks about $900,000, and is intended as far as practicable to relieve the financial stringency prevailing in the country. According to former regulations each depository bank was permitted to hold Government finals to the extent of from 900 to 95 per cent of the United States to the banks along the Contract of the United States to the banks about $900,000, and is intended as far as practicable to relieve the financial stringency prevailing in the country. NO OUARREL RETWEEN CROKER AND COCKRAN. An interesting report was circulated yesterday about Congressman W. Bourke Cockran, for the last decade Tammany Hall's champion orator. It repredecade Tammany Hall's champion orator. It represented Mr. Cockran as no longer "in the traces" at the Wigwam. When Congress meets next Monday, it was said, he would appear as a fullfledged Cleveland Democrat. This state of things was aleged to have been brought about by a quarrel between Mr. Cockran and Mr. Croker. Mr. Cockran, when seen by a Tribune reporter vesterday, denied that there was a particle of truth in the story. "I have had no quarrel with Mr. Croker," he said. "I have not seen him since the Fourth of July. Our relations are unchanged, and I have no thought of leaving Tammany Hall unless I am expelled. The story is aid rot."
